

Blackshaw Head Methodist Chapel - Monumental Inscriptions and other information from their burial registers

compiled 2024 by Friends of Christ Church Todmorden

This transcription was undertaken with the approval and cooperation of Blackshaw Head Chapel, and amalgamates the contents of their two burial registers with the five ring binders filled with death, burial and cremation certificates, along with coroner's release forms and (in Book 1) handwritten letters affirming the circumstances of birth of stillborn infants, as was required by law at that time.

It also includes a photograph of the plot map for the "old" graveyard, to the left and in front of the chapel and a grid map of the "new" graveyard, to the right and back of the chapel's property. Within the written transcript all unmarked or empty plots are highlighted in green.

At the end are listed names, ages, addresses, and dates of death for people whose names are not recorded either on gravestones or within the burial registers. It can be guessed where they might be buried but cannot be determined beyond a shadow of a doubt. Any keen researchers or family members who can shed light on those names should get in touch with the chapel and let them know.

For ease of reference, the numbering system comes in two parts for each grave. Rows 1 and back are counted from the front gate and uphill. The numbers in parentheses refer to the plot's page number in the burial register (and, in the old graveyard, on the illustrated map) so is useful if a visitor wishes to view the original source.
